ABOUT US

Deocent was established in 2021 and is registered in the UK 's Companies house with company number 1385417. Deocent manages portfolios with a commitment to due diligence and risk controls on partner traders. The firm also creates a collaborative investment strategy between traders and client where the mission is single-minded: we are focused on providing positive financial results.

We have a track record of producing results

Since our inception, we implement our strategies in all types of market conditions and know when the strategies should not be used. Our key performance indicator help us know how ROI driven we are. Our strategy implementation are in real-time, in all market conditions, and we know when best to advise traders to stay away. We are dedicated to providing exceptional investment management services by customising financial advice, highly personalised investment strategies, and disciplined management to capture opportunity while minimising risk. Our company is based on offering objective perspective, personalised planning, and sophisticated investment management to individual investors and families as well as pension plans and foundations.

Director Profile

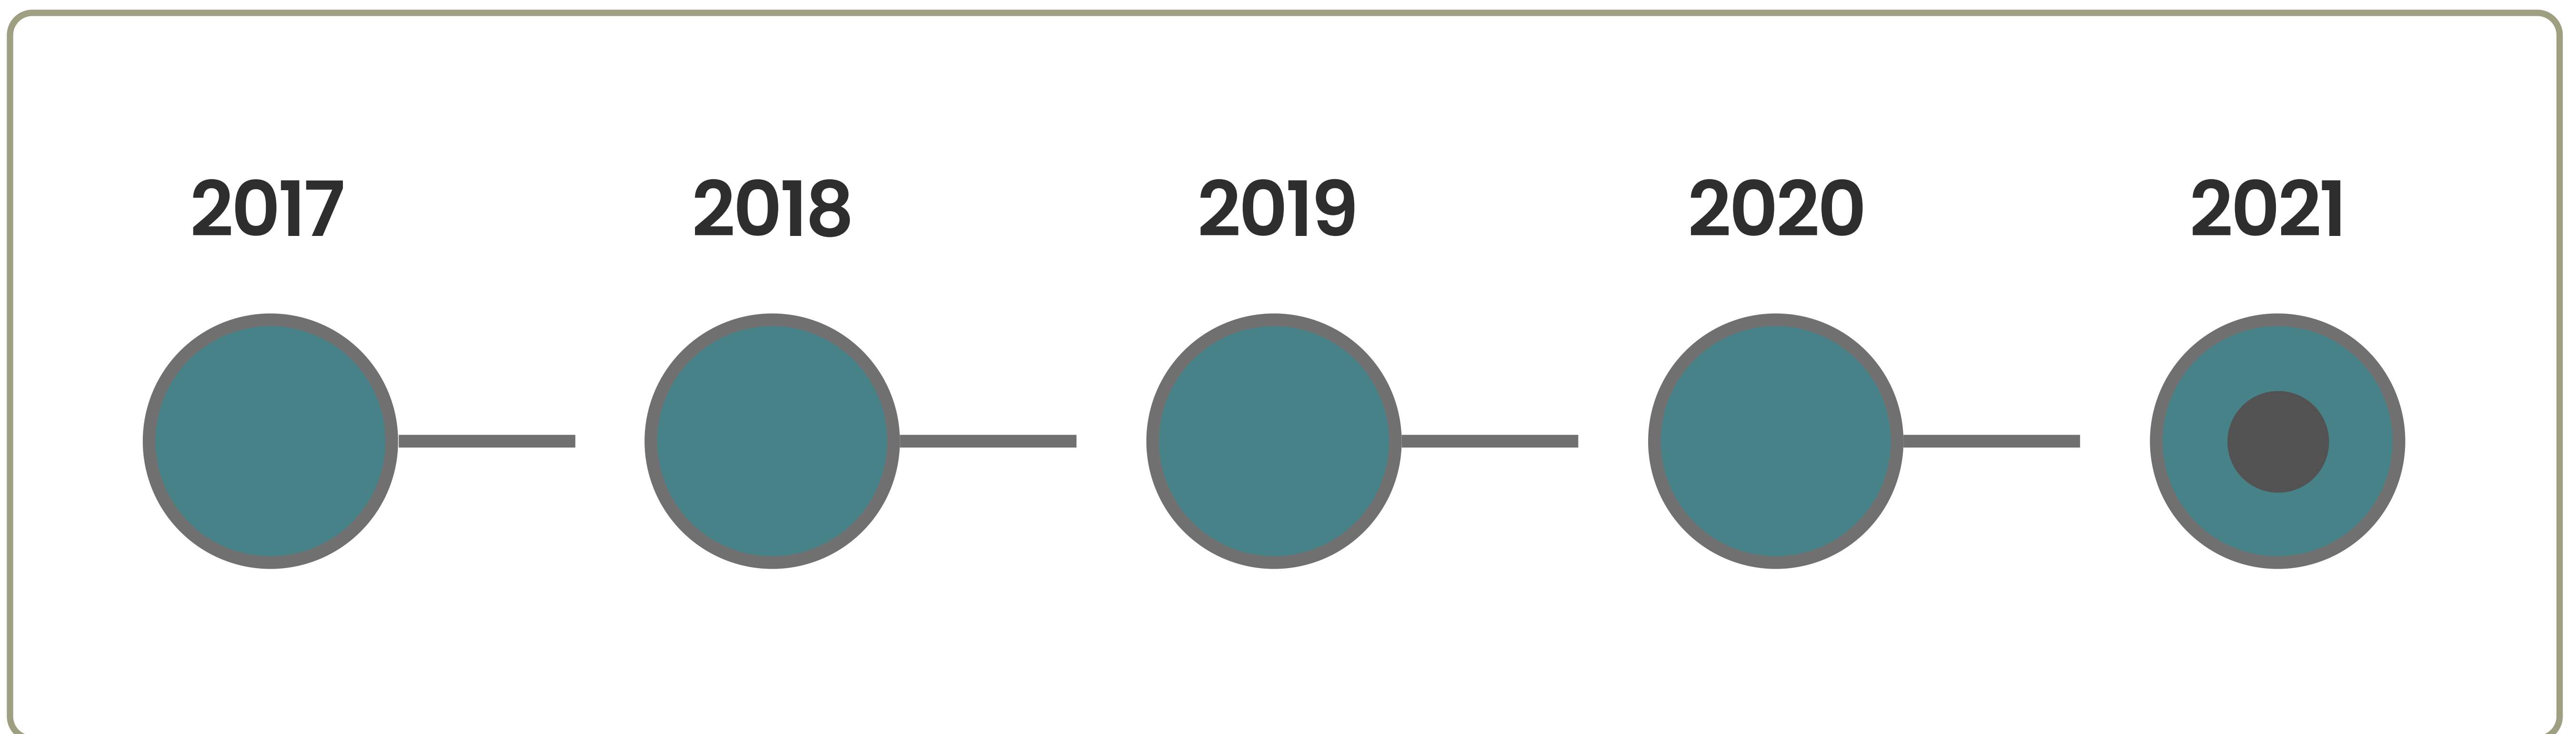

“

Paul Stanley Drill is a British-American millionaire entrepreneur who founded Deocent; an UK-based financial services company. He was born on 21st April 1956 in Chicago, and his parents migrated to the United Kingdom when he was 25. His parents both worked for the World Bank. He attended Thomas Jefferson High School for Science and Technology in Fairfax County, Virginia and earned a degree in Data analysis from Stanford University. In 2017, Steve started a high-frequency trading company which we know today as Deocent. By January 2018 he raised $14M million dollars to improve and expand the company. Following a funding round in May 2018, he created Papilla chain which focused on traders and clients and known today as Deocent.

Timeline of Our History

We officially started our trading in the year 2017. Prior to this period, Deocent started with as little as 10 clients and traders who collaborated and got their yields during their trading period. At that time, we inclined to doing only day trading and prolonged hours. In 2018, we trained a team focused on technical analysis fashioned through a refined know-how. Later that same year, our team of technical analysts built our first indicator and the ZAP2 Ink, which has proven success over the years. The year 2019 was ushered in by multiple conventions to enlighten traders on the need to embrace day trading with a good technical analysis. The year was termed “the technical year”. The year 2020 was a breakthrough year where we recorded our first Billion dollar trading cap, first of its kind since our inception. This was followed by fund rounds to further expand our operations in Australia and internationally. Ever since, we have been devoted and driven to make It really easy for retail investors to benefit from trading regardless of the professional know-how.
